Migrant Clinicians Network’s expert clinical team provides both on-site and distance technical assistance. Services range from quality and performance improvement to cultural competency to continuity of care.

Migrant Clinicians Network prides itself on filling in the gaps when it comes to migrant health. For almost two decades, MCN’s Institutional Review Board has stepped up to review and monitor research involving mobile, marginalized, and vulnerable populations like agricultural workers, to assure, in advance and by periodic review. This past year the MCN IRB monitored 7 research protocols.

MCN’s Health Network assures continuity of care and treatment completion by providing comprehensive case management, medical records transfer, and follow-up services for mobile patients. To date we have worked with:

7,067 Patient Contacts
3,534 Patient Medical Records Received

MCN’s Health Network implemented Case Reviews with enrolling clinics. During these meetings, clinicians have in-depth discussions regarding the care management for individual patients.

Health Network participated in a cohort management pilot, which demonstrated that migration does not limit participation of subjects in critical research.

MCN’s website has provided vital resources for clinicians and critical issues to the national conversation accessible across the country and on any device. Our articles pushed for immigrant health needs, stronger worker protections, increased pesticide regulation, health care for all immigrants, and more.

MCN provides high-quality continuing education to health care providers serving mobile and underserved populations. MCN’s comprehensive clinical education program disseminates best models and practices, facilitates the development of clinical leadership, and advances excellence in practice.
Through our Centers of Excellence program, MCN provides front-line clinicians on-site training, technical assistance, resources, and peer networking in environmental and occupational health.

MCN has demonstrated strong financial health and fiscal acumen year after year, assuring that every dollar makes an impact in health justice for the mobile poor. Our Institutional Review Board celebrated its:

- 32nd YEAR AT OR UNDER BUDGET
- 38% SUCCESS RATE FOR GRANTS SUBMITTED

Compared to an industry average of 8.5%

In 2017 we had 239 health centers represented in trainings.

- 89% of participants found information learned during MCN trainings helpful in enhancing the performance and operations of their health centers.

We accomplished all this in a year thanks to our small yet dedicated staff. A highly engaged Board of Directors, newly established External Advisory Board, and valuable volunteers complemented the work effort.
